Baked Pheasant

Son Chris often shares the bounty of the hunt. This time it was pheasant...cleaned and free of any bird shot.

Soak in 1/2 cup kosher salt and two quarts of water at room temp for about an hour. Meanwhile, whisk in a bowl the following: 2 tbs Dijon mustard, 1/4 cup sour cream, 1/2 tsp chopped chives. 2 tbs melted butter and 1/4 cup mayonnaise, some salt and pepper.

Rinse the bird and pat dry with paper towels. Separate the breast from the thighs.

Roll the bird in the wet mixture and then in a dry coating. I used Italian herb seasoned bread crumbs. You can crunch stuffing mix and use that also. In a baking dish, place breast in middle with thighs on either side.

Covered and in a 350F preheated oven for about an hour. Turn oven off; remove cover and let it cook for about 15 minutes more. 165F on a thermometer is the finished goal. Leftovers can be chopped along with celery, green onion, dash of lemon juice and mayo makes a great salad sandwich on toast; gooder than chicken.

Masks became the most visible sign of compliance to the political edicts during the Covid pandemic. Liberals saw it as the perfect counterpoint to the ubiquitous MAGA red hats worn by conservatives.

Failure to wear a mask banned you from every enterprise the Democrats could intimidate. Travel, medical facilities, banks, and all shopping (except maybe for Amazon).

Politicians pushed the public's faith in government to the limit. Remember hiding under desks at school in case of a nuclear bomb? Must have worked since we're still alive! There were a few that asked specific questions that never received an answer: "What are the masks preventing? If I had the job, why do I need the mask? If I wear a mask, why do I need the job?" I found it hilarious that you could walk into a bank carrying a gun and wearing a mask and ask tellers for money without getting arrested.

When dealing with idiots, I do what I always do...make them look ridiculous. The store manager who was close to screaming at me to put on a mask. I asked him if it was company policy. He puffed up and said "yes!". I then informed him I was not an employee but was a customer. He started to mumble so I pointed to my hearing aids and said I need to read his lips. He pulled down his mask and told me again that I need to wear a mask. I pointed at him and said..."you're not wearing one". He walked away.

Book Report

The late Vince Flynn recommended this author. I bought it but just now got to it. We have a new hero, Joe DeMarco. There are 15 more in this series and I've ordered three more in the hopes the quality of plot and character development continues. So far very good.

Curious about the football battles, I turned on the Lame Stream Media. Found the mute button and enjoyed the games. Wonder why anyone would attend the games when the multiple cameras covered the game so well I expect cameras on every player next year, including locker rooms. Always wondered if they gave each player their own ball if that would eliminate the aggressive nature of players.

Remember the scarf lady? She taught us the meaning of the word "efficacy". Do masks prevent the virus from reaching us? The drawing at right should answer that question. Many memes likened it to using a chain link fence to keep mosquitoes out of our yard. The death rate of the Spanish Flu was also used to scare us into wearing a mask. Here's Dr. Fauci in a report he co-authored in 2008 about those deaths:

"Most of the victims of the Spanish Flu didn't die from the Spanish Flu. They died from bacterial pneumonia and the bacterial pneumonia was caused by wearing masks." Who'da thunk?

Here are a few more facts about mask wearing that famous and highly paid Dr. Science ignores: masks reduce oxygen flow, increases humidity and any microbe concentration growing in between your face and the mask. You're also breathing co2 which lowers oxygen levels thus releasing more cortisol (stress hormone) which adversely affects your immune system suppression. Face recognition is reduced and lip reading is impossible thus reducing the ability of the hearing impaired (me) to compensate for their disability.

Inflation has been blamed for the rise in prices at the grocery stores. I think there is another hidden cost grocery chains are now recovering with the higher prices...remember the one way signs in the aisles? How about the six foot distance while the checker sprayed the conveyor belt and wiped out all those nasty germs. Now add the plexiglass shields, face masks/shields for checkout clerks and extra security to ensure masks were worn by customers. Wonder how all that extra cost was covered? Tax money? Prices up?

Notice how attention is now drawn to "classified document" searches. Even VP Pence has gotten into the act. He figures that will get him face time on the news and internet just as his contemporaries in DC have been using it. Everybody will have a personal connection to the crisis du jour with Hollyweird denizens most vocal about how it has affected their lives which will get them to threaten migration to Canada.

Conspiracy theorists, rumor mongers, journalists, politicians, celebrities and anyone connected to the internet are apparently trying to match the estimated 83 million American viewers tuning in to the most watched television broadcast of all time in 1980 to find out the definitive answer to the most puzzling question of the past century:

Who Shot JR?

Please make
