

Kitchen Confusion

80/20 hamburger tastes better than 90/10 but the price of both continues to go up. The ratio is also changing. We may wind up with a three number ratio when the bugs arrive. Cereal gets a bigger package while contents lose a couple of ounces. I guess cardboard is cheaper than cereal. With bugs entering the food chain, we might be looking at what they did with gasoline. Lead free became more expensive and then they added alcohol and charged less to sell more alcohol. Reminder that “free alcohol” has a better ring to it than “alcohol free”.

I wonder how long before the FDA mandates ingredient labels on the dumpsters? Remember the food pyramid charts the government issued? Main message: if it tastes good...spit it out.

People who eat bacon are less likely to blow themselves up in the name of Allah.

All the news I see fit to print.
Freedom of the press belongs to those who own one.

The nearly $5 trillion in government relief spending during the COVID-19 pandemic, much of which was disbursed as direct payments to citizens, created the perfect storm for fraud. Up to half of pandemic relief fraud was stolen by United States adversaries, China and Russia.

U.S. wraps up fiscal year with a budget deficit of $1.7 trillion, up 23%.

Biden administration is aiming to refill the strategic petroleum reserve (SPR) at a price of $79 per barrel, more than three times higher than the price that the Trump administration had sought to replenish at in 2020 when oil prices were hovering around $25 per barrel. Biden presided over the largest historical release of barrels of oil from the strategic reserve, one hundred and eighty million barrels. Millions of those barrels went to China.

Over 7 million illegal aliens since Biden took office. Biden Admin doesn't know where they are but they get benefits like – $2200 per month - also free cell phones, free health care, schools and the crime cost because nations have emptied their prisons to send them here.

Military can't meet recruitment goals so the Defense Department announced that service members would see cuts to their cost-of-living allowance paychecks.

The shortage of uniforms continues.

The Department Of Energy's Fermi National Accelerator Lab in Illinois had $160 million in questioned costs in 2018, due to lost invoices, excessive reimbursements and holiday pay, according to a recent audit by the Department of Energy's Inspector General. The audit examined costs incurred by Fermi Research Alliance, LLC, the contractor that operates the lab near Batavia, Illinois. The lab is owned by the Department of Energy, and receives millions in funding from the federal government. It also recently received $260 million from the Inflation Reduction Act of 2022.

Book Report

Highly recommend this author. This one is focused on how the Republicans came into power, mainly due to the few who kept the country on freedom's course by ignoring the escalating demands of the slave owning Democrats. Study the action and change the goals and I see eight Republicans today finally standing up to the Democrats who always bond together in a relentless drive for ultimate control rather than what's good for the country. Democrats don't know the meaning of the word compromise. But then, they're Democrats...there are a lot of words they don't know. Contrary to popular idea that Lincoln freed the slaves and won the war...it was a handful of Republicans that forced the Congress, and Lincoln, to stand firm and rid the country of the stain of slavery once and for all. The key message...then and now...it only takes a dedicated few to get things done even in the face of mob rule, thought control and condemnation of those mean tweets.

Near the end of the Obama administration, Joe Biden's brother James joined Americore, which operated hospitals in several states. In December 2019, Americore declared bankruptcy. Weeks later, the FBI raided an Americore office in Pennsylvania as part of an investigation into "white collar crimes." House Oversight Committee Chair Rep. James Comer (R KY) revealed that in 2018, James Biden sent the now-president Joe Biden a $200,000 payment the same day James had received a $200,000 wire transfer from Americore.

A poor barmaid in New York got elected to Congress and by her second term, was a millionaire many times over. Politicians in Congress earning a modest salary, over a few decades are worth multiple millions.

Family members of politicians become overnight "experts" as they are appointed to government commissions or hired by companies like Big Pharma for seven figure salaries.

Bureaucrats who control government grant money become popular paid speakers for the industries that receive the grant money.

Politicians who lose elections become lobbyists for the companies they monitored while they were in office...because they know where all the loopholes are.

Politicians who know they are going to lose their reelection bid, continue to raise money because they know they can keep it after they lose.

Leaders of both political parties control the bulk of the party's money so they can select the candidates who either share their beliefs...or the graft involved.

And here's the kicker: when you fill out your federal tax form, there is that box you can check to donate $3 to the presidential election campaign. How many of the 150,000,000 taxpayers checked that box...and who allocated that money to which campaign?
