

Recipe Corner
Chicken Penne

Ingredients:

2tb butter
2tb four

Make a rue...

...add

cup of half and half

Stir to avoid lumps

Add

cup of grated cheese

Stir until smooth and pour over:

cup of penne (el dente)

4-5 sweet peppers chopped

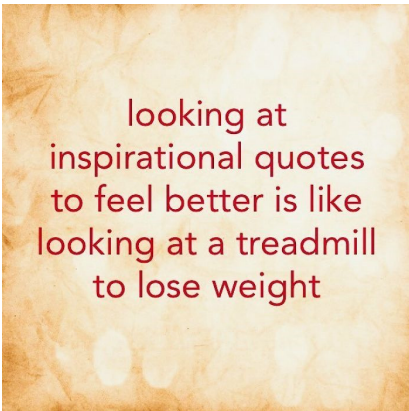

1/3 cup sweet onions

cup of mixed frozen vegetables

2 cups cubed, cooked chicken

Place all in baking dish 350 degrees about 45 minutes; sprinkle with grated parmesan

This is an original recipe so feel free to experiment.

Have you noticed...politicians walk around like they rent the place.

Would you please stop with the Christmas music?
It ain't even Thanksgiving!

THE FRANK REPORT

11.17.2018

*All the news I see fit to print.
Freedom of the press belongs to those who own one.*

I don't approve of political jokes... I've seen too many of them get elected...

...if you know what I mean.

The pushing and shoving for the spotlight has already begun. When you consider Jim Acosta as one of the more "famous" reporters, these politicians will have to become the very definition of the word "obsequious" involving lame stream media idiots. Nancy is going to have her hands full herding this bunch of cats while trying to control her own senility. In the meantime, Hilary Clinton is warming up in the bullpen (*with lots of bullshit) to fend off porn lawyers and self-proclaimed gladiators.

Mini-Book Report*

By Princeton University professor emeritus Harry G. Frankfurt (2005)

Bon Mots

"My purpose is to entertain myself first and other people secondly".

John D. MacDonald

Book Report

"I took three shots at it to get one book with a character I could stay with. That was in 1964. Once I had the first McGee book, The Deep Blue Good-by, they held it up until I had finished two more, Nightmare in Pink and A Purple Place for Dying, then released one a month for three months. That launched the series."

John D. MacDonald interview

Then 20 more followed, each with a color in the title. John Sanford used the same title technique with his Prey series.

James W. Hall has 20 books with 14 with the Thorn character starting in 1986. Very similar in plot, location and hero, Hall's books have not received the same fan attention although just as good (some better) than both MacDonald and Sanford. All three authors stand up to the test of time. Try MacDonald's books and you'll probably agree with me.

"Politics is the art of looking for trouble, finding it everywhere, diagnosing it incorrectly, and applying the wrong remedies."
Groucho Marx

Peter wants me to find a better place for the 250 rounds that came in HIS box. I'll have to find a better hiding place...an armed cat...just what the world needs...

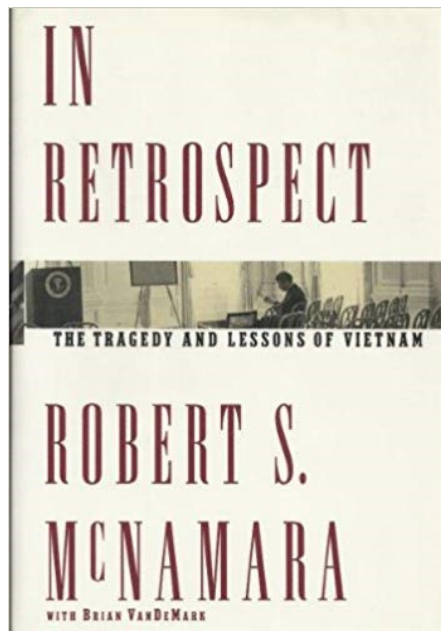

More fun gun control:

Finally received my "permit to buy" from local police department. Next is a four hour class to obtain a "permit to carry certification" from gun dealer. An additional four page questionnaire is filled out when presenting the permit to buy when finally buying a gun. The gun and 50 rounds of ammunition is required for the four hour class to receive the certification to carry. This class is repeated every five years to certify the permit to carry. The certification to carry permit is then presented to local sheriff who will issue a "permit to carry". The permit to buy is good for one year. The permit to carry is good for five years.

All this to keep guns from bad guys?

Minnesota: violent felons can petition a court to regain their gun rights by showing "good cause." There is no waiting period. In some states, visually impaired individuals are eligible for gun permits. Suppressors, contrary to what the Hollyweird crowd shows, aren't an aid to illegal activities. Instead, they're safety devices. They protect people's hearing when they're firing weapons. There is also a section of law that pertains to the building of certain guns from imported kits. If you're building an AK from a kit, you're required to replace a certain number of parts from a certain list with American-made parts. If not, you've constructed an imported rifle and have broken the law. But replace a few parts with aftermarket goodies and suddenly you're golden. Oh well, in Waynesboro, VA, it's against the law for a woman to drive a car in main street, unless her husband is walking in front of the car waving a red flag...how fast...half fast?

In Vietnam, I carried a S&W 38 caliber revolver loaded with tracer ammunition. Due to the fact that there are more airplanes on the bottom of the ocean than ships in the sky, it was prudent to be able to signal where you were while floating in a raft. The only other ordnance at my disposal were Sidewinder missiles loaded on strike aircraft. Only one out of three worked. In their demonstration of infinite wisdom (and lots of lobbying at the Pentagon) we then transitioned to the F4 Phantom loaded with Sparrow missiles. Radar lock-on was faster but results would have been better using that S&W revolver. McNamara apologized about ten years later.

If you want to read it, deny the asshat any royalties by ordering at your library. No sense spending money on the guy's mea culpa.

...not to worry; lock's on gun.

Happens only when Democrats lose...just saying.

GPA/DAD/UNCLE/ETC

website
 fns@franksiegler.com
 me
 email

PS: latest blog article @ 3,000 views and counting:
the frankreport.net