

...specially when you have computer problems!

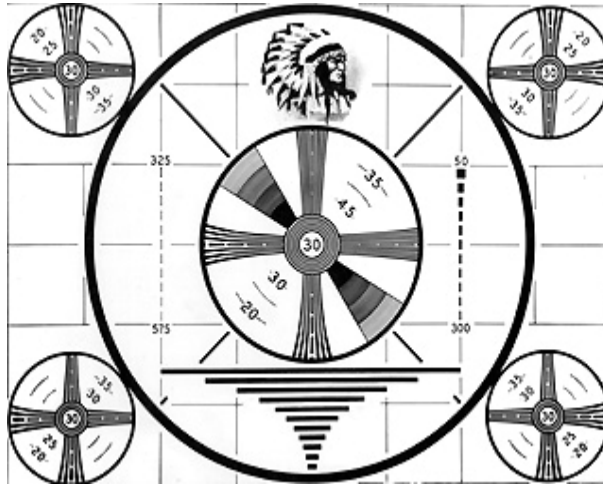

No...that was NOT the problem!

THE FRANK REPORT

3.3.2018

All the news I see fit to print.
Freedom of the press belongs to those who own one.

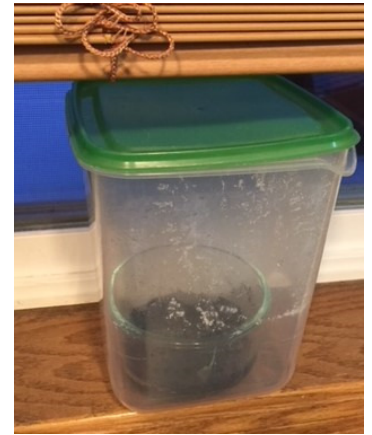

Major malfunction of my computer with all files, photos and folders lost. An attempt to upgrade to Windows 10 from 7 went horribly wrong resulting in loss of all contacts in my address book but have been able to gradually recover some of the information.

I've tried to resurrect the subscription list for this newsletter so I apologize to anyone getting it without asking to be included. For my regular subscribers who receive this...send me an email to make sure I have you on the list. About this newsletter:

I started a few years ago with a simple one page occasional report to our five kids. It has since grown to a weekly (every Sat. about 10:30am). And you can be sure I get calls if it's late. Feel free to share.

Bon Mots

Anybody know where in the Bible it tells you how to turn water into wine?
Asking for a friend.

Recipe Corner

Ever chomp on an apple and wonder if you could grow the tree from one of the seeds? Guess the answer is yes. I have two seeds sprouting right now with possibly more coming in an air tight container (to maintain moisture). Instructions found on the internet. Complicated but fun.

Book Report

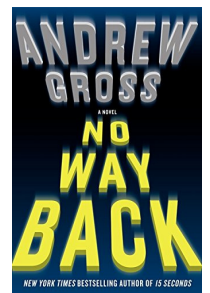

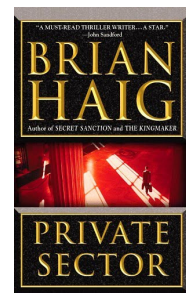

Of course, with the computer dead, I spent lots of time reading. Here are a few I highly recommend:

Happy Birthday Will Malone
March 1...and where's my ten bucks?
wzmskisquaw@gmail.com

Kids were here last week including grandson Alex and his new pug Buster. The Boys disappeared until everyone went to bed...including Buster. Alex got to go ice fishing. Of course, pizza and take out while we sampled various beer and wine. House was spotless, kitchen was clean (thank you Mr. Z) and beds made after they left...a tribute to Roselee's training.

Short newsletter this week as I recover from the computer disaster. ALWAYS BACK-UP YOUR FILES!

GPA/DAD/UNCLE/ETC

fns@franksiegler.com