

No...not a household tip.

Some of you know that the last 20 years of my 50 year career was focused on helping entrepreneurs. The term entrepreneur means people dreaming up a new product or service to make your life better.

At the same time, the politicians are thinking up regulations that would prevent that from happening. One of the more egregious example is the process of gaining protection of the idea with a patent...costing a minimum of $10,000.00.

Adding insult to injury, the government then makes the new patent public knowledge allowing any competitor to reverse engineer your idea and beat you to the marketplace. I advise what is known as "the poor man's patent" explained in my book. If you know any entrepreneur, have them contact me and I'll send a free copy (264 pages/pdf file).

Meanwhile, note the way the toilet paper is placed on the roller...it's the actual patent so that should answer that age old (1891) question.

All the news I see fit to print.

Freedom of the press belongs to those who own one.

President Joe Biden will grade the U.S. military and all other government agencies on their "efforts to advance environmental justice" through a new scorecard that tracks their work to fight climate change and deliver "environmental and health benefits to disadvantaged communities." Guess he feels guilty riding those coal powered steam ships as a teenager?

The National Institutes of Health is recruiting volunteers for a study on the effects of having one's testicles amputated. Cut now, figure out side effects later: that's 21st century medicine. Let's offer Dr.Fauci's name! I can also think of several Republicans who aren't using theirs.

Fox firing Tucker Carlson sets up your free six pack of Bud Light with your Fox subscription renewal.

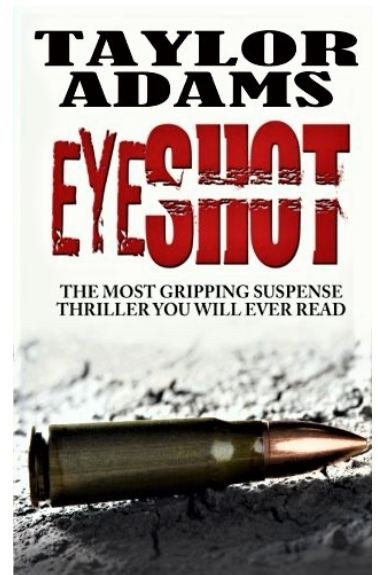

Pelosi's still at it... Former Speaker of the House Nancy Pelosi personally directed that $200 million appropriated for deferred maintenance projects in national parks be spent entirely on the Presidio of San Francisco, which happens to be near her mansion, (the one where her husband Paul was attacked, a story that has disappeared from the media).

Soros still at it... Six month old baby, Cristian Uvidia, was killed by reckless teenagers who stole and crashed a car in Chicago. Soros-backed DA Kim Foxx is only charging them with a misdemeanor...for trespassing.

Color me shocked... Many of the supposedly independent consumer, medical and civil rights groups that created the appearance of broad support for the vaccine mandate received funding from the vaccines' manufacturer.

In addition to free land, Minnesota's 11 tribes will receive $75 million in cash from the House tax bill (DFL Rep Dave Lislegard) for a new Tribal Nation aid program. The bill includes the transfer of state-owned land within the boundaries of Upper Sioux Agency State Park to the Upper Sioux Community for no cost. In fact, the bill appropriates $5.3 million to facilitate the transfer. The tax bill also bans etabs gambling; a mainstay for local charities income that competes with tribal casinos. That's a pretty good return on investment for $1 million in campaign contributions to DFL candidates.

Had enough yet? Spread the word!

Book Report

This debut novel actually was the most gripping suspense thriller I had ever read...and I have read a lot of them. Adams maintained his brilliance with three more...and the fifth available April 23rd. His third novel, No Exit, came close to being better than his first. I definitely recommend that you add Taylor Adams to your list of authors to follow.

A "Told You So" alert: Facebook was sued for allegedly improperly sharing the personal information of its users – now, they have agreed to pay a settlement. Americans who were Facebook users from May 24th, 2007 to December 22, 2022, can now apply for a share of the $725 million class-action settlement. Claim deadline is 8.25.23.

Fake grass is always greener on the other side.

Republicans continue to fix everything by expressing their concerns even louder.

Gun laws for criminals are like election laws for Democrats.

Pfizer says a fourth booster shot is needed for those who haven't died yet.

Don't tell Zelensky about GoFundMe.

Remove a real black woman from a syrup bottle and put a fake woman on a beer can?

Everyone is normal until you get to know them.

Today's news headlines are yesterday's conspiracy theories.

If God wanted us to vote He would have given us honest candidates.

They try to fix that problem between their ears with surgery between their legs?

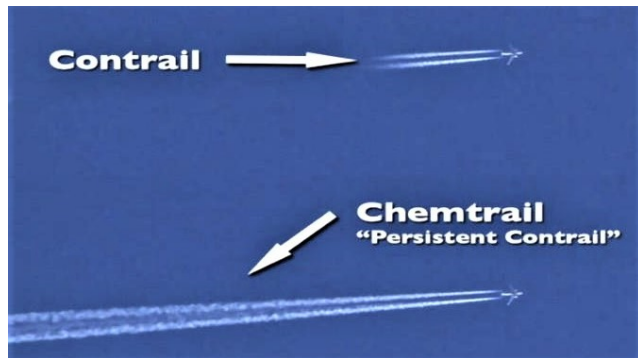

Why do car companies buy crash dummies when we have politicians?

"We hold these Truths to be self evident..." well, most of us still do!

Let's toast with Bud Light those that gave their testicles for the cause.

(Cause they're stupid?)

Thank you for your tolerance of my rants and raves. But hang on, it's going to get a lot worse as the politicians begin the 2024 election season of new and improved lies.

As if we didn't have enough conspiracy theories proven true...here's one that's been around (and denied) for decades. The chemtrail conspiracy theory is the belief that long-lasting condensation trails are "chemtrails" consisting of chemical or biological agents left in the sky by high-flying aircraft, sprayed for nefarious purposes undisclosed to the general public. Believers in this conspiracy theory say that while normal contrails dissipate relatively quickly, contrails that linger must contain additional substances.

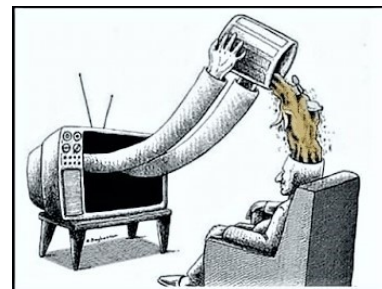

Those who subscribe to the theory speculate that the purpose of the chemical release may be solar radiation management, weather modification, psychological manipulation, human population control, biological or chemical warfare, or testing of biological or chemical agents on a population, and that the trails are causing respiratory illnesses and other health problems.

Some facts: Cloud seeding is a scientific process that improves a cloud's ability to make rain or snow, as well as control other weather events. The technique, which experts also call weather modification, can really help in areas that don't have a big enough supply of natural water. After cloud seeding, precipitation (rain or snow) will fall from the clouds onto the ground.

In just one month, 16 "artificial rain enhancement rockets" were launched off the back of a pickup truck 300 miles south of Beijing. The operation, ordered in response to a local drought, was reportedly a success. Over the next 24 hours, the county received more than two inches of rain that, according to local officials, alleviated the drought and lowered risk of forest fires.

Conclusion: Yes, chemtrails are real.

Reverse theory: Remember government attacks on tobacco? Now MN doctors pledge acknowledgement of indigenous medicine...with tobacco being one of them. With tobacco vilified, government now gets billions in taxes on that indigenous medicine. See the TOBACCO report in the newsletter file at www.franksiegler.com.

Looks like you're winning!

In 2018, seven late night programs — NBC's "Tonight" and "Late Night," CBS' "Late Show" and "Late Late Show," ABC's "Jimmy Kimmel Live," Comedy Central's "Daily Show" and NBC's "Saturday Night Live" — drew more than $698 million in advertising in 2018, according to Vivvix, a tracker of ad spending. By 2022, that total came to $412.7 million — a drop of approximately 41% over five years. Fallon, Kimmel, Colbert and the others have all in recent years had to grapple with viewers totally ignoring them.

Greg Gutfeld is the undisputed king of late night, and in a 4500-word Variety piece discussing late night, Gutfeld is not mentioned for 22 paragraphs. Gutfeld is mentioned only three times in the entire article. Jimmy Kimmel, whose ratings are lower than Gutfeld's, received 17 mentions.

Local TV ad rates...about $35 for a 30 second commercial.

That's not a typo: $35.

Production costs not included... and they are enormous.

Disney's sports channel, ESPN is shutting down. Maybe they should have given us scores rather than their pronouns?

Until next week...
