

MAGA vs RINO

Republicans In Name Only are those congress critters who see themselves as smarter than President Trump and have either blocked or delayed key goals of the MAGA movement...and yet still consider themselves the true leaders of the Republican party.

The current primary season is an awakening for them as they find the party they think they're leading is more than willing to tell them to get out of the way.

Democrats have proven, while even in the minority, standing together is a tactic that will work.

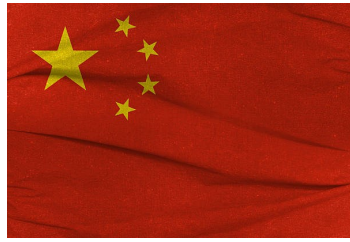

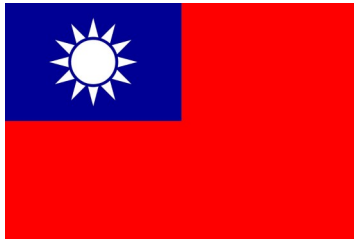

Rino's believed the Lame Stream Media that the MAGA movement is fractured and Trump is losing his influence.

Trump used this primary season to retire several Rino's by endorsing MAGA supporter replacements:

- Pennsylvania: 10—0
- Alabama: 6—0
- Kentucky: 6—0
- Georgia: 9—0
- Idaho: 5—0
- Oregon: 1—0

There are primary elections still to come. I'm guessing the remaining Rino's will start to pay attention to Trump and reconsider their reluctance to support MAGA and the President.

The flag on the left is the Republic of China. The flag on the right is the People's Republic of China. So, what's the difference? Here's my take on it:

The Republic of China (ROC) was established in 1912 following the Xinhai Revolution and governed mainland China until it lost the Chinese Civil War to the Chinese Communist Party (CCP) in 1949. The CCP subsequently founded the People's Republic of China (PRC) in Beijing, while the ROC government retreated to Taiwan, creating a political divide that persists today.

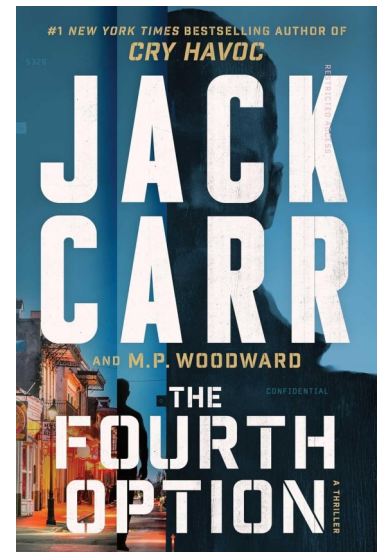

Both governments historically claimed to be the sole legitimate authority over all of China, including each other's territories. For decades, the ROC held China's seat at the United Nations, but in 1971, UN General Assembly Resolution 2758 replaced the ROC with the PRC as China's representative, leading most nations to switch diplomatic recognition to the PRC.

Today, they operate as separate entities with distinct political systems: the PRC is a one-party communist state controlling mainland China, Hong Kong, and Macau, while the ROC is a multi-party democracy governing Taiwan and surrounding islands. Although the PRC asserts a "One China" principle and views Taiwan as a rogue province, the ROC has evolved into a de facto independent state. BTW: Trump's visit to the PROC...he is literally older than the PROC.

Here's an analogy: if the liberals keep pushing election fraud and raise taxes in the states they conquer, the conservatives will move out of those states and migrate to Alaska as a final and safe frontier. Alaska declares itself the last bastion of America and tell the rest of the states...good luck...while they wait for them to implode and ask Alaskans to come back.

Taiwan should declare itself the last bastion of China and wish the PRC good luck. America then recognizes Taiwan as the original China and refers to PRC as pee rock.

I don't really care what the UN says about it and I'm not alone. The call to get US out of the UN and the UN out of US is getting louder.

Book Report

You may know Jack Carr from the TV series The Terminal List, but that was his first novel...seven more are on the shelf. This one was co-written with M.P. Woodward who you may know from the Jack Ryan, Jr. series. Chris Walker is the result, a new character who will keep you up at night. Tom Reece was the main character in the previous eight and I'm wondering if he will meet up with Chris Walker in future ventures.

Let's hope so.

Whatabout REACHER?

Season four is coming this year and Maria Sten as Neagley will get her own series. Amazon has struck gold with the Lee Child books even as Lee turned them over to his brother Andrew who made a mess of the latest Reacher novel, Exit Strategy. Amazon has dozens of previous books to run the franchise and they seem to have shut down Alan Ritchson's mouth from trying his hand at politics and social media. Let's hope so there too.

In 2012, CNN did a segment on the complete failure of Obama's two year, $34 million reflecting pool renovation that totally failed. This was less than a month after the reflecting pool reopened. CNN didn't blame Obama in any way. Will they treat Trump's renovation that cost less than 10% of Obama's renovation the same way?
