

Thinking while computing

Password is rejected and IT wants you to reset your password. You give them the reset password...and they say you can't use an older password. WTH? If they recognize the older password, then get the hell out of the way!

Sorry...I just can't seriously work with a company who has adopted the corporate name... google. The IT department must have won the battle with marketing but had to give up on...giggle?

Been using Publisher software since 1991. Microsoft decided to eliminate it and remove it from my computer when they renew my subscription to Microsoft 365 which used to be called Office Suite. No more support for it nor for Windows 10. So...I cancelled the automatic subscription and will purchase a lifetime Office Suite 2021 for each of my computers. I build the weekly newsletter with Publisher and then convert it to a PDF file for attachment to the emails of subscribers. Microsoft 365 will no longer open Publisher files.

Where we're at...

So, you go sky diving. Jump out of the plane and pull the ripcord. Out pops a note asking for your password. You take a WAG (wild ass guess) and furiously punch in letters and numbers. Suddenly... splatt! Investigators try to figure out what happened... but they don't know your password either.

The Frank Report

5.9.2026 #539

All the news I see fit to print.

Freedom of the press belongs to those who own one.

Minnesota Democrats on the House Fraud Prevention and State Agency Oversight Policy Committee have officially blocked a subpoena targeting Rep. Ilhan Omar (at left above) over her connections to the state's massive $250 million Feeding Our Future COVID-19 relief fraud scandal.

Angie Craig (above right) is the current congress critter for the second district in MN. She and her "wife" apparently have their eyes on DC as she is running for the Senate for the Tina whatshername (she has such a low profile having done nothing, I can't remember her last name). There's a scramble among Democrats to get Angie's seat. DFL state Sen. Matt Klein, state Rep. Kaela Berg, and former state Sen. Matt Little are the three leading candidates for their party's nomination. Democrats will meet this weekend to endorse a candidate.

MN Republicans have already chosen their candidate for Angie's seat. Eric R. Pratt spent 30 years in banking and financial services, building a career centered on risk management and fraud prevention. (That will scare Democrats!)

Over the course of his career, he led teams in risk management, fraud prevention, underwriting, mergers and acquisitions, and regulatory compliance. He's also spent successful years in politics including chair of a school board, MN House and Senate. Now if we can get past the MN election fraud, we'll be in good shape.

Tampon Timmy and Elevenhan Omar will have to get through federal scrutiny before the MN Democrats give them a pass and new positions where they can continue to draw paychecks from MN taxpayers. Are we having fun yet?

How do I remain optimistic and maintain my sanity?

Easy...have my perfect great-granddaughter smile at me on her first birthday. I'm sure it was one of my "dad jokes" that got that smile. Speaking of jokes...

In 59 voting districts in Philadelphia, Obama won 100% of the votes with NONE for Romney. In 21 districts in Ohio Obama received 100% of the votes and GOP inspectors were illegally removed from polling locations and, once again, not one vote for Romney. One of those counties had Obama winning 108% of the total votes. In Wood County, Ohio 106,258 votes counted from 98,213 eligible voters. St. Lucie county Florida counted 247,713 votes from 175,574 voters while Palm Beach Florida county had a 141% voter turnout. Obama won every state that did not have photo ID requirement and lost every state that DID require it.

AND, the FBI raided the office of Virginia Senate President Pro Tempore L Louise Lucas, a Democrat and close ally of VA Governor Spambooger, (sic) in connection to a major corruption probe. The FBI is serving multiple search warrants, approved by a federal judge, at her office and a next door cannabis store.

curmudgeon quotes

I have reached that age where I can get away with anything if I call it a "senior moment".

All dogs are therapy dogs. Most are freelancing.

Study, get a job and work hard so Democrats can give your money to someone who didn't?

Neighbor is so proud of himself. Went to Costco hungry and only spent $12,000.00.

It's spring so reverse your battery cables so the A/C comes on instead of the heater. (You're welcome).

If Lassie was a cat, would Timmy still be in the well?

The party that founded the KKK in 1865 was just caught funding the KKK in 2026.

Want to eliminate lawfare? Make the losing lawyer pay the other lawyer...Not with taxes.

If government is the answer, then the question was really stupid. (Ronald Reagan)

"AI machines will be as smart as people." OK...which people?

A sales tax is a tax on money "they" have already taxed.

Republicans may not be the solution to all of your problems, but Democrats are pretty much the cause of all of your problems. Vote wisely!

If she says she missed you...be careful. She might be reloading.

Most of my decisions fall somewhere between "is it illegal or merely frowned upon?"

1985: the entire legal staff of the Southern Poverty Law Center (SPLC) resigned en masse? They did so in solidarity after leadership made an odd/strategic (calculated) pivot to focus on fundraising, whereby they would be soliciting donations from liberal donors nationwide in order to generate massive revenue by becoming a 'hate monitoring' group instead of doing civil rights-oriented legal work for minorities, which was why the organization was founded. Might be interesting to see how the salaries of those "leaders" grew exponentially. New York Times? NBC News? Anybody in the Lame Stream Media?

Nixon, Ford, and Reagan won Oregon.
1992 Bill Clinton only got 42.5% of the vote in Oregon.
1996 Bill Clinton only got 47.2% of the vote in Oregon.

In 1998 Oregon switched to vote by mail.

A Republican hasn't won there since.

Judicial Watch's lawsuit settlement results in the review and removal of 800,000 ineligible voters from Oregon voter rolls

Former campaign managers for Barack Obama warned that the Democratic Party is a mess ahead of the 2028 presidential election, due to not knowing what they stand for.

None of the Lame Stream Media have asked.

VA Gov. Spambooger (sic) Said She Had No Plans to Gerrymander and Redistrict But It's the First Bill She Signed which was immediately struck down by SCOTUS while the Lame Stream Media ignored it.

Democrat U.S. Senate candidate Mallory McMorrow voted in California elections while she was living in Michigan while the Lame Stream Media continues to support her.

Pope Leo has appointed a former illegal alien to lead the Diocese of Wheeling-Charleston in deep red West Virginia. Bishop Menjivar-Ayala has publicly criticized the Trump administration's policy of mass deportations and is well known for his progressive posturing.

Watch the Lutheran congregations grow!

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) said 14,000 people in one state were receiving food stamps while also driving luxury vehicles. So far 4.3 million people have been removed from SNAP while officials found 186,000 dead people were also receiving benefits. Are the SNAP officials on duty at the time still working there? If so...why?
