

Recipe Corner

Cats and Ice Cubes

Ingredients:

Fresh water

Several ice Cubes

Curious Cats

Tried not to laugh out loud as I found out Peter is left pawed and likes the noise the ice cubes make clinking against the sides of a stainless steel bowl. Brother Paul is right pawed and politely waited until Peter limped away leaving wet footprints in the kitchen. Food bowl had enough in it to cover the bottom so starvation abated for now. There is much anxiety if they can see the bottom of the bowl.

Larry Hicks is acknowledging yet another birthday tomorrow (July 14). Niece Mishmouse has him under tight control thus only her email will convey best wishes:

mishmouse@iowatelecom.net

Happy Birthday!!!

THE FRANK REPORT

7.13.2019 #182

All the news I see fit to print.

Freedom of the press belongs to those who own one.

Democrats voted to fine Americans for not buying health insurance, but want to give it to illegal non-citizens for free 🤔

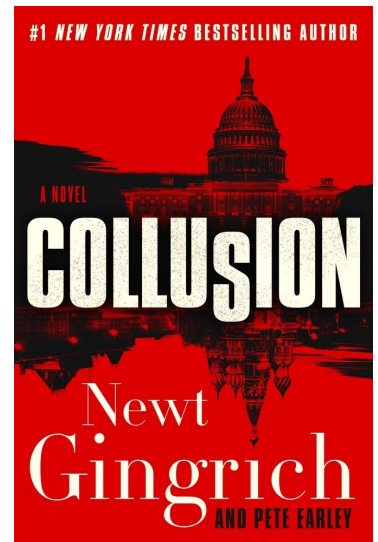

I'm having a tough time keeping up with the pandering going on from the Democratic party. The former barmaid from the Bronx seems to be the loudest (thus most visible). Even Pelosi is getting tired of it as the messaging keeps drifting further and further left. Love some of the counters made by the right. Best one is the two week harangue by the barmaid about those concentration camps. The question that shut her down was: If they are so bad, why are so many people trying to sneak into them? Another favorite is that the Democrats will build an even higher wall to keep people in after the switch to socialism. The exodus taking place from California may have them build a wall on the eastern border. The posturing by that woman's soccer "star" seems to be aimed at a lucrative Kaepernick contract with Nike? We did have one Dem presidential hopeful drop out and he held a press conference to thank his supporters...and nobody showed up. Sort of like the crowd that didn't show up for Jim Acosta's book signing. Hillary's book is finally a bargain at 98 cents. Michelle's book is still sitting on the shelf at my local library. Librarian said nobody has checked it out. With all the top Democrat donors being indicted for pedophilia, there's a scramble for new sources of money. Did you know that they get to keep any money they raise? Maybe Uncle Joe Biden figured that out and wanted to get in on the racket with or without Obama's endorsement. Bernie's going for a fourth house? Meanwhile, all those recent photos of Jerry Epstein and Bill Clinton are quickly disappearing in the Lame Stream Media being replaced with photos of Trump that are 15 years ago. They forget to mention that Trump banned him from Mar A Lago after Epstein propositioned a teenager.

Bon Mots

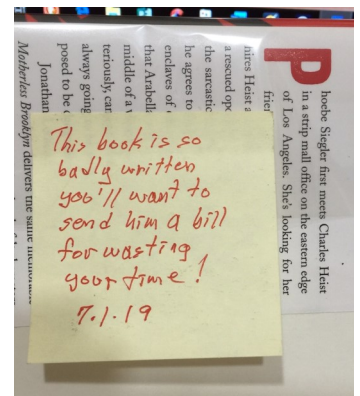

I now believe

I will never be old enough to know better.

Book Report

Newt? Actually quite good with some serious back-grounding in international intrigue. Co-author has several too and I will explore as soon as Verdon books are done.

Lethem book titled The Feral Detective should replace that r with c for a truer description. It was so bad I felt obligated to add a post it note warning when I returned it to the library. Note the heroine's name: Phoebe Siegler. What's that all about?

-more-

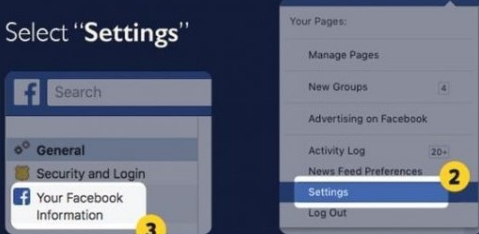

FACEBOOK

(Founded: 2004, ~2.2 billion active users)

1. Click on your menu (top right)

2. Select "Settings"

3. Select "Your Facebook information"

4. Desktop
Select "Delete your account and information"

Mobile

Select "Account ownership and control"
Select "Deactivation and deletion"

5. Choose whether you want temporary or permanent deletion

YOU ARE NOW FACE-LESS

Apple Legend Wozniak: 'Get Off Facebook'

Public Service Announcement: How to Escape Farcebook

Had some serious problems navigating the internet, specially my most common sites. Worked with one of the support staff and added Firefox as a secondary browser. Sure enough, the problems were linked to the EDGE browser. Did a repair and reset but still having some problems so am switching between browsers. Guess that's not uncommon...I've just been lucky.

For the paranoid: it ain't you...IT IS THEM!

Oooops! Interesting when facts get in the way of hysteria.

That includes the hysteria about adding a question about citizenship to the census...uhhhh...why aren't we asking why it was always there but removed by the last administration?

Growler: 1/2 gallon container of micro-brewed beer growing in popularity in MN. How popular? To the level where the liquor cartel has convinced politicians to pass a law capping the amount of beer these beer entrepreneurs are allowed to sell. Think about that: entrepreneurs being so successful they pose a threat to the status quo so the liquor cartel gets laws passed to stop the success of new businesses in MN.

Happened in Oregon too when I started the first wine sales over the internet that threatened the liquor cartel. When I fought back (successfully) the (Democratic) AG threatened the liquor license of the wineries using my website. My testimony at an OR hearing got a couple of people fired but the AG ruling held. Goal was to limit wine production to only the largest wineries under contract to the liquor distributors. It worked; many of the smaller OR wineries went bankrupt.

GPA/DAD/UNCLE/ETC
fns@franksiegler.com
thefrankreport.net

MIKE LESTER
frankiegler.com/WineGap
7-11-19