

Recipe Corner
Uncle Leo Potatoes

One large baking potato cut into small cubes.
Medium sweet onion cut into bits
Sweet peppers cut into strips
Soak potato cubes and onion bits in lightly salted water. Skillet with couple TB oil to medium heat. Potatoes and onion fried half way done (about 15 minutes) then add sweet peppers. Continue low heat for about another 20 minutes until potatoes are browned. There will be lots of steam so do not cover. Pepper and other spices to taste. (Roselee's Uncle taught us how to make these.)

Once done they go good with baked walleye fillets, homemade bread and bottle of Liebfraumilch.

Eight small loafs from basic 3-2-2 recipe using Pyrex dishes.

Crude? Yes. True? Also yes.
Maybe start showing up at incumbent politician town halls with rolls of toilet paper?

Maybe AOC is providing a bit of reverse psychology? Sharia law would make her shut up...sit down and lose any rights.
We wouldn't even have to look at her anymore!
Now you know why Sharia law was invented!

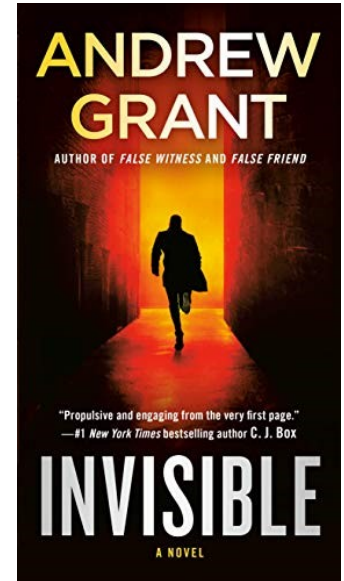

It's difficult to find fact among the fiction perpetrated by the Lame Stream Media. Even quotes are mangled to portray their favorites versus the truth spoken by their enemies. Social Media is getting into the act by blocking said enemies from having an opportunity to provide facts. Meanwhile:

Book Report

Ex-army intelligence guy poses as a janitor to find documents hidden to prevent prosecution. Good story but can't see this going beyond the first book about the hero.

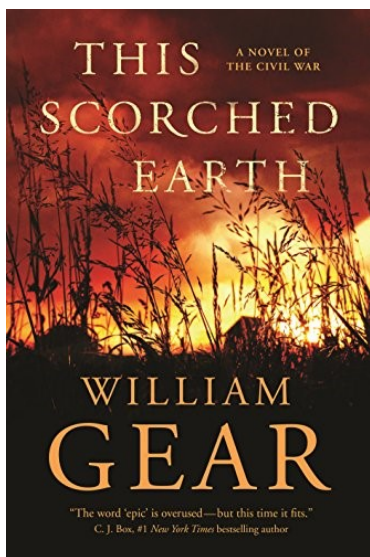

Confusing plot jumping all over four generations in a depressing story BUT it's one of the best use of the English language in any book I've ever read. Worth the time.

There comes a time in life when you can discuss with your grandchildren the relative merits of rye whiskey versus bourbon to make a good Manhattan. For me, that time is now.

This book is so good I just had to give it another plug. Over 700 pages, you'll still close the back cover and say "wow!". It really does surpass Gone With The Wind with both historical accuracy and character development. Hollyweird, of course, would never think of making it a movie even given the eight successful decades of Margaret Mitchell's novel. You can still buy both her book and the movie. The digital copies are always updated from dvd to any new technology.

7.18.2019 : a priest in Congress prayed "to cast out all spirits of Darkness" on the House Floor. Didn't work. They're still there.

Brenda and Chris finished installation of the bird feeder. The Boys chatter at the birds and I chuckle as the squirrels try to reach the seed. One of them actually fell on his butt and stared up at me...then ate one of the flowers.

Brenda has the garden in great shape too with an artichoke, popcorn, two kinds of tomatoes and green peppers. Even snuck in a bunch of flowers.

"Someone's at the door!"

Paul disappears for a few days as all five kids (and some grandkids) are here for the weekend. He comes out at night and Peter joins him running around...on my bed...and my head...while the gang sleeps .

Watch for a special article on climate change/cooling/warming/etc. It will be on my blog and also at whatfinger.com.
